India's Boating Industry Down The Decade

IBI Asia correspondent & marine consultant Mike Derrett traveled to Mumbai, India's boating capital, to talk to the industry earlier this year. Back in the boom years, he says, prior to the Global Financial Crisis of 2008, India was one of the most interesting new leisure boating markets. The surge in boat sales attracted exhibitors & visitors to the first India International Boat Show in Cochin in 2003 and on to the launch of the Mumbai International Boat Show in 2007. Business in boating appeared promising. Read on about today's reality as Mike describes the growth curve of boating in India down the years in his article 'Indian boating – Leaking, but not sinking!'

WHAT'S NEW

A New Rig & Sail Plan For Seabirds In India

XS Marines brings you their latest development in SEABIRD sailing. Over the last two years they put in a considerable amount of time and effort in developing a Sloop rig for the SEABIRD Class of sailing boats, i.e. the XS63 Rig & Sail plan. All the existing Seabirds can now be retrofitted with this new Rig & Sail plan! FULMAR II one of the first of the 'Mark 3 Seabirds' built in 1987/88 has been retrofitted by XS Marines with the new XS63 Rig & Sail. Her owner was keen to have a modern sloop rig and his constant requests were one of the key factors in proceeding with this new innovation...
