Why India Needs Marinas – A Major Boost To Tourism

Marinas encourage sustainable tourism. Marine tourism is a major instrument regional development. Harbors and marinas provide for tourism and economically benefit for the towns where they are sited. Local communities benefit from investment in facilities for tourists such as leisure and sporting facilities. Marinas can generate significant income from their activities in terms of local spend, employment and activity. Whether the marina is occupied by a yacht owner, a visitor or a berth owner, local businesses will benefit from the purchases of fuel, supplies and gifts...

Festival Of Sails: Celebrating The City's Open Spaces

The Mumbai Festival of Sails is a proposed two-week long festival to be held at the end of each year comprising, in large part, a series of daylong exciting sail boat races to be conducted on the waters opposite the Gateway of India. Spectator boats and ferries will take citizens of the city to the race course, and with the aid of suitable on board commentary and video coverage, explain the event, sharing the thrill and excitement of sailboat racing. This year the festival is being held from the 18th-25th of December, 2012, and features the 420 Harbor Cup & INWTC Match Racing Cup, the Laser Coastal...

YACHT MAINTENANCE

Boat Cleaning Tips For The New Boat Owner

Keeping your boat clean is indeed an important aspect of boat ownership, but nowadays due to the availability of extremely useful products there is no necessity to spend several tedious hours keeping your craft looking brand new. The boater should develop a routine to clean his boat after every trip. Here are some tips to help clean your boat the "smarter" way instead of the "harder" one. You should choose the right kind of equipment for cleaning the boat. The brushes should be sturdy and have stiff bristles that can withstand saltwater and repeated use. Washing pads and mops, sponges...
